

The Government of Ontario Launches New Funding Website

When it comes to finding grant and funding money for projects and businesses, the process can be daunting. To help Canadians with this endeavour, the Government of Ontario's Grant and Funding Program Division has launched a website where this important information may be found.

The Ontario Business Programs website provides ease of use for its visitors. By answering a few simple questions about your business or business idea, a list of financial and/ or non-financial options will appear to meet your criteria needs. If you need to refine only specific parts of your search you may do so on your results pages for quick and easy modification. In addition, the Government of Ontario encourages the site's visitors to provide feedback for this beta-mode version.

With many options all in one place to help your business succeed, this website is worth taking a look at. You can access the website below.
